Dear

I should like hereby to confirm the arrangements we have made for students in my course to come to the C.I.A. I expect to arrive at 10:00 A.M., March 26; I shall call you when we reach Washington early that week.

You mentioned the possibility of our receiving a briefing from an agency specialist on China. I should very much like to hear a presentation on Chinese domestic politics: my university has developed an exchange program with Shansi University, and although we've not yet made the final arrangements, I've been told that my chances of being selected for the program are excellent.

I've included my class's itinerary for Washington and a list of the names, social security numbers, and addresses of those who will be coming to the C.I.A. (please disregard Judith C. Thompson, Pauline Alexandra Thompson, Paul Muse, and Annika Ledfelt; I drew this list up for Mr. Atwater in the White House as well, and my wife and daughter will take the two foreign students elsewhere in Washington on March 26).

I look forward to meeting you and I know that my students will learn a lot from a visit to the C.I.A.

Yours,

Robert Smith Thompson
